The title of this year's Senior Studio Art Majors Thesis Exhibition, Bring Your Own Everything, responds to the diversity of creative methodologies, materials, and individual themes explored over the past year by graduating Dickinson College students: Carson Arp, Jess Berghofer, Dominique Dorian, Naim Ezekiel, Kai Lemis, Joshua Manzo, Devin Rossi, Eden Sanville, and Ian Spurrier. Working independently in semi-private studios on campus, these emerging artists not only investigated and developed their individual studio practices, but also converged as a class through the discussion of shared readings, group critiques, fieldtrips to museums and art galleries, and a variety of exhibition experiences. Coupled with a teaching model where Dickinson College studio art faculty closely contribute to the oversight of the yearlong senior seminar, this capstone exhibition is the culmination of an intense collaboration where everybody has to bring something! The students demonstrated Energy, Emotion, Enterprise, Endurance, Excitement – and even a little bit of Enchantment. Visitors to the exhibition are invited to explore the works of art through the lens of the artists' chosen themes and consider what other "E" concepts might be brought to the exhibition: Endings, Excavation, Enigma...

The exhibition is accompanied by a full-color exhibition catalogue.

About The Trout Gallery:

The Trout Gallery is the art museum of Dickinson College. It is always free and open to the public. It is located in the Emil R. Weiss Center for the Arts at 240 West High Street, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, 17013.

As a teaching museum, The Trout Gallery promotes curiosity, collaboration, and understanding through active engagement with communities, ideas, and artworks. The Trout Gallery aspires to be a center for cultural and intellectual life on campus and in the community. Through exhibitions, collections, and educational programming, we foster interdisciplinary exploration and offer dynamic experiences that advance the values of creativity, expression, global diversity, and social justice.
